DEEDS OF KINDNESS.

Suppose the little cow
Should hang its golden cup,
And say, "I am such a tiny flower
I'd better not grow up!"
How many a weary traveler
Would miss its fragrant smell,
And many a heart would sorry be
To lose it from the dell.

Suppose the glittering dewdrop
Upon the grass should say,
"What can I little dewdrop do?
I'd better slink away!"
The blade on which it rested,
Before the day was done,
Without a drop to moisten it
Would wither in the sun.

Suppose the little breeze
Upon a summer's day,
Should think themselves too small to cool
The traveler on his way;
Who would not miss the smallest
And softest ones that blow,
And think them a great mistake
If they were talking so?

How many deeds of kindness
A little child may do,
Although it has so little strength,
And little wisdom too.
It wants a loving spirit,
Much more than strength to prove
How many things a child may do
For others by his love.

Something for Our Young Readers.
Our very pleasant contemporary, Hearts and Home, tells its young readers how to take a coin out of water without wetting the hand, and this is their method: Fill a plate with water to the depth of about a quarter of an inch; a coin is then placed in the water, a piece of paper is lighted, and put while burning on the surface of the water, and covered with a tumbler. As the paper burns under the tumbler the water will rush up under the tumbler, and leave the coin in the plate, when it may be lifted without wetting the fingers. This is a very interesting experiment, as it affords a good illustration of the expansive power of heat, and of the pressure of the atmosphere. But we will tell our young friends of a more wonderful and equally simple method of doing the same thing. Suppose you were required to take a coin from the bottom of a deep jar, or even a pail of water without wetting your hand, and suppose further that your naked hand was to be thrust through the water, how do you suppose it could be done? Simply by shaking a little lycopodium (a substance that may be procured cheaply at any drug store) over the surface of the liquid. Then plunge your hand boldly but steadily into the water and it will not wet you in the least. The cause of the water's not wetting the hand is the same in principle as that which causes the dewdrops to stand in spherical drops on the cabbage-leaf, and the water to roll off the duck's back without wetting it. By a somewhat similar power, spiders and other insects walk on the surface of water without wetting themselves, and without sinking in the liquid to any perceptible degree.

How LADIES SHOULD KISS.—Hardly any two females kiss alike. There is as much variety in the manner of doing it as in the faces and manners of the sex. Some delicate little creatures merely give a brush of the lip. This is a sad aggravation. We seem about to have a good time, but actually get nothing. Others go into it like a hungry man into a beef-steak, and seem to chew up our countenances. This is disgusting, and drives away a delicate lover. Others struggle like hens burying themselves in the dirt. This is won by great exertions, and is not worth the trouble it costs. Now, we are in favor of a certain shyness, when a kiss is proposed, but it should not be continued too long; and when the fair one gives it, let her administer it with warmth and energy—let there be soul in it. If she closes her eyes and sighs deeply immediately after it, the effect is greater. She should be careful not to "slobber" a kiss, but give it as a humming bird runs his bill into a honey-suckle, deep but delicate. There is much virtue in a kiss when well delivered. (We have the memory of one we received in our youth, which lasted us twenty-one years; and we believe it will be the last thing we shall think of when we die.)

A PLEA FOR THOSE WHO SLEEP IN THE MORNING.—The fact is, that as life becomes more concentrated, and its pursuits more eager, short sleep and early rising become impossible. We take more sleep than our ancestors, and we take more because we want more. Six hours sleep will do very well for a ploughman or bricklayer, or any man who has no other exhaustion than that produced from manual labor, and the sooner he takes it after his labor is over the better; but for a man whose labor is mental, the stress of whose work is on his brain and nervous system, and who is tired in the evening with a day of mental application, neither early to bed nor early to rise is wholesome. He needs letting down to the level of repose. The longer the interval between the active use of the brain and his retirement to bed, the better his chance of sleep and retirement. To him an hour after midnight is probably as good as two hours before it, and even when his sleep will not so completely and quickly restore him as it will his neighbor who is only physically tired. His best sleep probably lies in the early morning hours, when all the nervous excitement has passed away; and he is in absolute rest.

Fashion rules that dinner dresses should be made with high corsage; evening dresses extremely décolleté, with a narrow band for sleeves.

How Washington Looked in 1773.

The following sketch of General Washington's personal appearance is taken from a letter written in New York, in 1773, and published in the Kentish Gazette, an English paper:

General Washington is now in the forty-seventh year of his age; he is a tall, well-made man, rather large boned, and has a tolerably genteel address; his features are manly and bold; his eyes of a bluish cast, and very lively; his hair of a deep brown; his face rather long, and marked with the small-pox; his complexion sun-burnt and without much color; and his countenance sensible, composed and thoughtful. There is a remarkable air of dignity about him, with a striking degree of gracefulness; he has an excellent understanding, without much quickness; is strictly just, vigilant, and generous, an affectionate husband, a faithful friend, a father to the deserving soldier; a gentleman in his manners; in temper rather reserved; a total stranger to religious prejudices, which have so often excited Christians of one denomination to cut the throats of those of another; in his morals irreproachable; he was never known to exceed the bounds of the most rigid temperance. In a word, all his friends and acquaintances agree that no one man ever united in his own person a more perfect alliance of the virtues of a philosopher with the talents of a general.

DYING.

Benjamin F. Taylor, of the Chicago Journal, draws the following beautiful picture in reference to the certain departure for that "undiscovered country."

"There is a dignity about that going away alone, which we call dying—that wrapping of the mantle of immortality about us, that putting aside with pale hand the azure curtains that are drawn around this cradle of the world; that venturing away from home for the first time in our lives, for we are dead; and seeing foreign countries not laid down on any map we have read about. There must be lovely lands somewhere stayward, for none ever return who go thither, and we very much doubt if any would if they could."

There are now 400 Chinese and 300 with laborers at work on the Northern Pacific Railroad. The company are pushing the work vigorously, but will undoubtedly avail themselves of the six months' extension of time to complete the first section.

MEDICAL.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,
For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to protect against disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affection of the throat, and whooping cough, all should be provided with this antidote for them.
Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, and great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. Then nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.
Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.
Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.
Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.
So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,
For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Biliousness, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance, it is perfectly safe in any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe we have the history of every case on record. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed. Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AYER'S CURE.
For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed. Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all round the world.

PUBLIC SPEAKING.

Col. S. I. M. Major, candidate for the Democratic nomination for the Legislature, will address the Democracy of Franklin county at Farmer's Store, on Wednesday, 25th inst., at 3 o'clock, P. M.

Captain H. I. Todd is invited to attend and divide time.

A Ku-Klux outrage occurred in Frankfort on Saturday night, for which we can find no parallel in the annals of barbarism. An individual from the North, calling himself John Frost, almost an entire stranger to this place, made a most wanton and unprovoked attack upon a family of Beans living in the suburbs of the city. Some time between two and five o'clock in the morning he entered the Bean premises, where all the family, most of whom were very young, were quietly sleeping in their beds, and he made his most ghoul-like and merciless assault. Nearly every member of the family was either so dreadfully bitten or cut that it has since died, or lives so badly maimed that no hopes of future usefulness can be entertained. Frost acted like an escaped maniac, or one suffering from that terrible disease, hydrophobia. His disposition to bite every living thing that came in his way was altogether unparalleled. He is still at large.

P. S. Since the above was written, we learn that the assault was renewed on Sunday night, and that the Cherry, Peach, and other families were similarly and fatally attacked.

It has been with very great regret that we have had to part with our friend, G. W. Ranck, Esq., of the Lexington Observer and Reporter, who has sold that paper to Messrs. Miller & Lowry, and has retired from editorial duty. During his connection with the press, for more than two years, we have found him one of the most ardent workers in the effort to elevate the standard of journalism, to which end he took an active part in the organization of the Press Association, and contributed materially to its establishment as a permanent institution. Before his connection with the press he became widely known as the author of a series of spirited sketches under the name of "Attorney Fairfax," including among them an article on Theodore O'Hara, with a collection of his most popular verses. We hope that the retirement of Mr. Ranck from the press will not be permanent, but that after a season of rest and recuperation to his health, we shall have him with us again in some journalistic capacity.

GOOD TEMPLARS' CONCERT.—It is with more than usual pleasure that we have been informed that the Good Templars and others of Frankfort will give a musical entertainment on Thursday evening next, the object of which is to procure money with which to purchase furniture for their new lodge-room. This is a most meritorious enterprise, and should secure the liberal patronage of all who feel an interest in the good work of this noble order. The best musical talent, both amateur and professional, will be secured on this occasion, and the enjoyment of the evening will be greatly enhanced by the presence of Kentucky's poet son, Major H. T. Stanton, who will favor the audience with the rendition of several pieces selected from his poems. An excellent band of instrumental music will be in attendance, and we hope that our citizens will turn out en masse in response to this announcement.

Our friend, Dan Swigert, whose attendance on the New Orleans races we have already referred to, met with enviable success there. His bay colt, Pilgrim, 3 years old, by Lexington; dam, imported Cairn Gorm, by Coleridge, achieved a fine reputation on the 8th April, winning the dash of 3 miles in 5:33 1/4, beating Nannie Douglas and Morgan Scout, and distancing Donovan—purse, $1,000.

On 11th April, Pilgrim won two mile heats, beating Defender—purse, $1,250—time, 3:41 1/4; first heat run by Defender; second heat, 3:39, over a slow track—Pilgrim was ridden foul; race given to Pilgrim.

On 15th inst., Pilgrim also won the grand four mile race—purse, $2,500—beating Victory and Defender, and distancing Morgan Scout and Alaska—time, 7:38; 7:36 1/4; 8:02 1/2.

Morlacchi, Mr. Swigert's brown filly, by Lexington; dam, Banner, by imported Albion, won a race of mile heats on the 14th inst., beating Style and 7 others—time, 1:46 and 1:56—purse, $700.

Virgil, Mr. Swigert's hurdle horse, won hurdle race, 1 1/2 miles over six hurdles, beating Beacon, Chalmette, and Tanglefoot—purse, $500. Virgil was sold to Capt. R. W. Simmons for $1,000.

Pilgrim is thought by many judges to be the most promising young Lexington horse in the country, being very stout and handsome, fine size, and rarely bred, and has proven himself a fine four mile horse, beating a field of four best horses on the Metairie course.

The Democracy of Union county instructed as follows: For Governor, Hon. John Young Brown, of Henderson; for Lieutenant Governor, Hon. Emory Whitaker, of Mason county; Auditor, D. Howard Smith, of Scott county; Register of Land Office, James A. Dawson, of Hart county; Attorney General, John W. Blue, of Crittenden county; Treasurer, James W. Tate, of Franklin county; Superintendent of Public Instruction, H. A. M. Henderson, of Fayette county.

A CALL.

JUDGE FRANKLIN CHINN, Sr.: If you will permit the use of your name for magistrate you will receive the support of MANY DEMOCRATS.

A GENERAL FISHING PARTY.—It was our pleasure to join a most agreeable fishing party from Lexington on Friday last, in company with several gentlemen from this place, and to spend a couple of days with them on Flat Creek, where they are still camped. The party from Lexington, consisting of Messrs. J. Hanna, J. Dudley, W. K. Higgins, J. H. Shropshire, Horace Craig, Thos. Mitchell, and Wm. McChesney, arrived by the morning cars in time to take the steamer Blue Wing, which left at 8 o'clock, and were joined here by Col. E. H. Taylor, Sr.; our worthy Mayor, E. H. Taylor, Jr.; J. G. Dudley, and Buck Keen.

Gong aboard the boat to take leave of them, we found ourselves soon pressed into the party without previous preparation or provision for such an expedition. By judicious management known only to old campaigners, we had soon exchanged our plug hat for a felt one, secured from Marsh, Woods a pair of old fishing pants, borrowed a reel and pole from Capt. Sanders, and when, after a pleasant ride of two hours, the Blue Wing landed us at the mouth of Flat Creek we were as much a fisherman in looks as any of the party. It required some time to establish a camp, which was done about half a mile up the creek, where the two tents were pitched, and the commissary stores and baggage in due time secured. Brief as was our stay, it would require a volume to record all the pleasant incidents of the two days we formed part of this agreeable and hospitable company. Never was a camp better supplied nor fare more invitingly dispensed. By common consent it was named "Camp Hanna," in honor of the senior member of the company, and when we left they were still christening it. As to the fishing, it is enough to say that, notwithstanding the weather was raw and unfavorable, we caught enough for current use, and with the favorable change which has taken place, we doubt not that there will be fine sport. We hope they will not catch all, but will leave some for another time. We are afraid, however, as the party was organized by that noted fisherman, Horace Craig, who has but recently depopulated the waters of Dick's River, that fish will be a scarce commodity in Flat Creek when they leave. Col. Higgins, who made such havoc in Central and Western Kentucky among the game last fall, has his gun as well as his rod along, and the next squirrel census in that region will, we fear, show a great falling off. However, here's luck to you, gentlemen, and hoping that none of you may get splinters in your fingers.

I. O. G. T.—Capital Lodge of Good Templars will meet to-morrow night (Wednesday) at 8 o'clock. The quarterly election of officers will take place, besides other business of importance will be transacted.

STAR GALLERY.—J. B. Fay, of the celebrated ferret gallery, 74 1/2 street, Louisville, has opened a branch on the lot of Mr. Steffe, just east of the Capital Hotel. If any of our citizens want any real fine pictures, now is the time to secure them. Mr. Fay's stay will be short; so go at once and avoid the crowd.

NEW MARBLE YARD.—We have hitherto failed to call attention to the establishment of a new marble yard in this city by Messrs. Flynn & Leonard, whose card will be found in another column. They are both well known here as good, practical workmen and worthy men, and it is to be hoped that they will receive the encouragement they deserve. In all the departments of their business they are prepared to execute orders promptly and with satisfaction, and there will no longer be any necessity of sending to other cities for any kind of plain or ornamental work either in marble or stone. Their yard is on Main street, between St. Clair and Washington.

Our friend Rowland, the photographer, who has been absent from the city for the last two weeks, has returned to his post and is prepared to take photographs in every style.

We are indebted to Mr. John Lillis the enterprising gardener of Fleetwood, for some new Irish potatoes, the first of the season.

The Union county circuit court adjourned upon learning of the death of Hon. Robert T. Glass, and a meeting of the bar was held, at which affecting remarks were made by Hon. I. A. Spalding and others, and appropriate resolutions adopted and spread upon the records of the court.

The Mayville Bulletin speaks of the wheat prospect in Northern Kentucky as follows: "In all the neighboring counties the breadth of wheat sown is greater than usual, and we have never at this season seen it look better. Our farmers are in high spirits, and if nothing occurs to injure it, we shall have unusually large crops."

Several of the ladies of Warsaw have taken advantage of the late "law for the benefit of inebriates," and have posted notices in all the bar-rooms in town, warning the proprietors not to sell or give their husbands any intoxicating liquors under penalty of the law. The penalty is $20 fine for each offense.

The reports from Southern Illinois present the following facts in regard to the prospect of the wheat crop: The breadth of winter wheat is very large, and the general testimony is, that its present promise is unprecedented.

DEMOCRATIC MEETING IN GALLATIN.

Pursuant to a call by the Chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee of Gallatin, a large meeting of the citizens was held in the court-house at Warsaw, on Monday April 17, 1871.

Judge A. G. Craig was called to the Chair, and Artilla Cox was appointed Secretary, and Joseph Rucker Assistant Secretary.

The purpose of the meeting was to select delegates to represent Gallatin county at the Democratic State Convention, to be held at Frankfort, Kentucky, on the 3d day of May next, and also to appoint delegates to a joint convention of Gallatin and Grant counties that may be held.

On motion, it was determined that the districts select four delegates each, whereupon the following gentlemen were chosen:

First District—Dr. A. B. Chambers, Judge A. G. Craig, John A. Gex, and L. F. Sanders, Esqs.

Second District—M. J. Williams, Dr. J. S. Brown, Rod. Perry, and Ambrose Ren.

Third District—Wm. Dean, A. Gibson, E. Hogan, and Samuel Taylor.

On motion, the delegates were instructed to cast their votes for Hon. Thomas L. Jones as the first choice of this county for Governor; D. Howard Smith for Auditor; and James W. Tate for Treasurer.

On motion, the Democratic Executive Committee of Gallatin county was instructed to confer with the committee of Grant county, and propose holding a joint convention at Flat Creek, in Grant county.

On motion, the same delegates from each district in this county, chosen for the State Convention, were selected to represent Gallatin county in a joint convention of Gallatin and Grant counties to choose a candidate for the next Legislature.

It was then moved to instruct the delegates to vote a unit, leaving the question to be decided unanimously by the districts, each voting separately. The 1st district decided not to instruct, and the 2d and 3d districts instructed their delegates to vote as a unit. As the vote was not unanimous the Chairman decided the motion lost.

On motion, the convention then adjourned.

A. G. CRAIG, Chairman.
A. Cox, Jos. B. Rucker, Secretaries.

Loss of Records.—When Proceedings will, from Judgment alone, be presumed to have been Regular.

Penny &c., vs. Pindle &c., From Fayette, Craddock, Special Judge.

This was a suit by Pindle in equity, after a return of nulla bona on a subject to a lot of ground in Lexington in the possession of Gormly, and which was formerly owned by Megowan, and was in 1855 condemned for a depot for the Big Sandy Railroad, and afterwards sold and conveyed by the railroad company to Gormly.

Gormly resisted, claiming title by purchase from the railroad company, and filing as an exhibit a judgment of the Fayette circuit court, rendered in 1859, approving and confirming the inquest condemning the land. The petition was dismissed.

Held—To entitle Gormly to the ground, it must appear that the railroad company had taken the necessary steps to condemn the land for the use of the company. The company could not acquire title by purchasing strictly the requirements of its charter upon the subject of the condemnation of real estate to its use. This can only be shown by the record itself, if it be in existence. But the writ of ad quod damnum, and the whole proceeding except the judgment seem to have been lost. It cannot be presumed from the judgment alone that the proceedings had been conducted in conformity with the requirements of the charter of the company. Such presumption might be indulged to sustain judgments of courts of competent jurisdiction not under review by this court upon appeal, and coming into a suit collaterally in support of a link in a chain of title in cases where parts of the record have been lost or destroyed, yet it should clearly appear to the court before admitting parol or secondary evidence of what it contained that it was lost or destroyed. Here there is no satisfactory proof of the loss of the record, or that any effort has been made to find it.

Judgment reversed, and cause remanded for further preparation.

Sale of Infants' Real Estate.—Sale must conform to the Advertisement.

Coker vs. Miller &c., From Hardin, Hardin, Judge.

In a proceeding to sell infants' real estate by the guardian under the provisions of chapter 86 of the Revised Statutes, the court adjudged the land to be sold upon credits of six, twelve, and eighteen months for the equal installment of the price. The commissioner appointed to make the sale so advertised the terms, but on the written request of the guardian on the day of sale, changed the terms from those prescribed by the court, and sold the land on credits of one, two, and three years for equal sums.

Held—It is essential to the validity of sales of land under notice, that the notice must be in pursuance of the power to sell, and the sale must be in pursuance of the notice—at least so far as the observance of either may be important for the safety of any substantial right involved. (1 Bush, 538; 4 Bush, 70.) The sale was manifestly unauthorized, and cannot be upheld against the infant complainant, though the guardian seeks to sustain it. The action of the commissioner may have been more detrimental to the rights of the infants than an entire failure to advertise any terms of sale at all.

[From the Paris True Kentuckian.]

The Mitrailleuse Again.

Mr. CHADDOCK: I see in your paper, published a few weeks since, a story written by a "Confederate," entitled a "good joke of the Union women—stealing a Confederate gun."

As there were some mistakes in the story, calculated to do injustice to a gallant officer, I beg your indulgence while I correct them. In that story Gen. Marshall is made to say of Col. Johnson that I have no idea he ever said, for he well knew that neither Col. Johnson nor any of his command was present when the gun was stolen. Colonels Clay and Johnson, with their commands, went down the Kentucky river to Hazard and Jackson, while Gen. Marshall and the rest of his command with the gun went down the waters of Big Sandy and Licking rivers, and at the time the gun was stolen Col. Johnson was at least fifty miles distant. Nor was Lieut. Lail in charge of the gun, for he belonged to Col. Johnson's command, and was with him at the time.

But we take occasion to remark just here, that the officer who did have charge of the gun was a faithful and gallant officer, and doubtless has been censured much more than he deserved.

It may be true that Col. Johnson loaned Capt. Williams the money as stated, as he frequently let his men have money, and his purse was always open to the "whisper." Col. Johnson, at his own expense, raised and equipped a command, and is yet paying from his own private purse debts contracted for clothing and equipments for those men. Such men should have justice done them. And we are unwilling to see even a shadow of unjust criticism thrown upon his character. Therefore this explanation.

This gun was taken into Kentucky at the instance of Capt. Williams, a son of the inventor, who wished to prove its value, and he did expect a full battery from Richmond, but failed to get it in time for the exhibition. It could not follow the impracticable route of the horsemen, but was compelled to keep the main road, and when lost several miles from the nearest command.

This plain, unvarnished statement of the facts is personally known by a thousand Kentuckians who belonged to Gen. Marshall's command, and needs only to be stated to be assented to.

Very respectfully,
O. S. TENNEY.

Mr. Jacob McGee, of Jessamine, started the other day a load of hemp to Lexington, which he had sold to Mr. Bruce, at $8 per hundred, but when he had proceeded about three miles the hemp was discovered to be on fire, and he had hardly time to unhitch his horses before the whole load, wagon and all, were a sheet of flame. The fire resulted from want of tar on the wagon wheels. The loss was about $500.—Lexington Gazette.

A herd of two hundred and fifty buffaloes was recently driven into the Missouri river, near the Whiststone Indian agency. A few reached the left bank in safety; a few others were killed in the river, and the remainder of the herd perished in the waves of the treacherous, rapid river, and at the time was swollen by the flood, and their bodies floated with the current. The Sioux City Times says the robes of these animals cannot be much damaged by their transit in the water, and the body of men who can secure the whole lot of buffalo can realize at least $1,500. They float in one large body like a raft, which they closely resemble in the water.

THE TRI-WEEKLY YEOMAN.

Health in Perfumes.

A love of flowers and perfumes has always been deemed a lady-like taste. Every one, even the rudest, recognizes something refined in this taste, and likes to see it displayed. Not only gentle Sir Galahad, but the grimmest and toughest knights in the lists were doubtless pleased to see

"Perfume and flowers fall in showers,
That lightly rain from ladies' heads."

It now appears that this taste is as useful as it is charming. An Italian professor has discovered, by a series of careful experiments, that sweet-scented flowers have a powerful effect in producing atmospheric ozone. Our readers are aware that ozone is a peculiar form of the life-sustaining element of our atmosphere. The latest researches seem to show that it is composed of three atoms of oxygen combined in one. However this may be, there is little doubt that the presence of ozone in the air is very important in sustaining vitality and repressing disease.

Professor Mantegazza found that the essences of certain flowers and scented plants develop ozone in very large quantities. Among the flowers are especially mentioned those of the narcissus, hyacinth, mignonette, heliotrope, and lily of the valley; among plants, the cherry laurel, lavender, mint, juniper, fennel, anise, and bergamot. But it may be inferred that all great odors of vegetable origin have the same health-giving quality. In view of these facts, we are not surprised to learn that the professor recommends the use of flowers in marshy districts and in places infected with animal emanations, as the powerful oxidizing influence of ozone may destroy them. He advises that the inhabitants of such regions should surround their dwellings with beds of the most odorous flowers.

It is a comfort to know that the most delightful of feminine occupations is also one of the most beneficial. Every woman who surrounds her dwelling with sweet-scented flowers and plants, and who makes her rooms and her clothing fragrant with their essences, is an angel of health to her family and friends. It is well to remark, also, that this discovery of Professor Mantegazza affords another evidence of the importance of the study of chemistry to the well-being of our daily life. It has been called the "household science," and the time must come when no course in any seminary for young ladies will be deemed complete unless it includes a familiar acquaintance with this most useful of all the sciences.

Bottling Sunshine.

We have often heard the remark as derisive of some foolish undertaking "bottling moonshine," but by moonshine has not been bottled, sunshine has, at least, so says a foreign journal, which says: "A singular discovery is announced by the Echo Rochelais as having been made by a French professor at the College of Saintes, in Charente Inferieure. It consists of the singular fact of actually bottling the sun's rays and utilizing them at pleasure. The writer describes the operation as follows: The professor takes a vase—the material is not mentioned—and exposes it in a certain position to the direct action of the sun's rays. After it has thus absorbed the heat for the space of a quarter of an hour, it is closed with a cork and hermetically sealed, a small aperture being left in cork. Affixing a powerful lens to the vase, he causes the solar rays to converge to a point upon the wick of a common candle, placed on a table at a distance of one yard from the vase. In less than three seconds the wick ignites and lights the candle, which burns steadily. The writer states that the experiment was tried several times, and was equally successful on each occasion."

About Silk.

Facts and history compel us to yield to the Chinese the honor of this great discovery. Aristotle, Horace, Pliny, Virgil, and others recognize the Chinese genius in its discovery and skill in its product, while they enlarge its qualities, its richness and great beauty. Little was known of its nature or character, in Europe, till near the dawn of the Christian Era. During the reign of Caligula it became a court dress. The Persians began the traffic in silks, and monopolized the western trade till the sixteenth century. About the year 530 the eggs of the silk worm were secretly procured in China and brought into Europe. The first effort to acclimate the worm and to manufacture silk were made in Sicily; and from thence the business spread through Italy and to other parts of Europe. The Moors were the first producers of silk in Spain. James the First made special efforts to introduce the rearing of worms and the product of raw silk in Virginia. In 1651 the coronation robes of Charles II were made of Virginia silk. Governor Oglethorpe brought eight pounds of raw silk from Georgia into England in 1734, from which a dress was made for Queen Caroline.

If a person swallows poison, instead of breaking out into multitudinous and incoherent exclamations, bend some one after a doctor; meanwhile run to the kitchen, get a half glass of water in anything that is handy, put into it a teaspoonful of salt and as much ground mustard, stir it an instant, catch a firm hold of the person's nose, the mouth will soon fly open, then down with the mixture, and in a second or two up will come the poison. This will answer in a larger number of cases than any other. If, by this time, the physician has not arrived, make the patient swallow the white of an egg followed by a cup of strong coffee (because these nullify a larger number of poisons than any other accessible article), as antidotes for any remaining in the stomach.

CHALK FOR STOCK.—When an animal is found licking his fellow, it is a proof that uneasiness is present in the stomach, and the licking of his neighbor is a habit contracted by instinct with a view of removing the unpleasantness. Unfortunately instinct is not all times sufficient to avoid dangerous practices, and if we take for granted that the stomach is at all times fully charged with acid matter, we will, without hesitation, find a remedy. It is only necessary to place within their reach shallow troughs in which is kept a supply of common chalk. If an animal has a superabundance of acid secretion, it will most certainly neutralize the excess of acid. If an animal has not acid in excess, and partakes of chalk, it will do no harm. It is often too late to administer remedies to young stock, and the placing of chalk within their reach cannot be made too early.

MARKET GARDENERS OF LAKE COUNTY, Ill., says that he has the most remarkable success in the use of salt upon his tomato plants. He applies it at various times during the season, and in every case the effect is marked in the increased growth of both plants and fruit. In some cases he lays the roots of backward plants bare, sprinkling them with a tablespoonful of ordinary household salt. This will answer in a larger number of cases than any other. Plants ordinarily treated this way take an immediate start and develop fine fruit.

TO PREVENT A COW SUCKING HERSELF.—The Toronto Globe says: A sort of yoke worn on the neck to prevent the cow getting her head round sufficiently to accomplish her purpose will answer. This yoke is made as follows: Make six bars of the requisite length, to extend from the head to the shoulder. Bore two holes in each, close to the respective ends. Carry a rope through the holes at the anterior ends, and another through them at the posterior ends, by which to tie it round the neck, so that the bars kept at appropriate distances from each other by knots on the rope. If properly adjusted, this will put a stop to the sucking.

WHITE WASH THAT WILL NOT WASH OFF.—Slack the lime in the usual way. Mix one gill of flour with a little cold water, taking care to beat out all the lumps; then pour on boiling water enough to thicken to the consistency of common starch when boiled for use. Pour it, white hot, into a bucket of the sickened lime, and add one pound of whitening. Stir well together. A little "blue water" made by squeezing the indigo mixed with water improves it.

ED. A correspondent of the English Mechanic gives the following curious remedy for toothache: Put a piece of quinine in a glass of water into a pint of water in a bottle. Clean the teeth with a little of it every morning, rinsing the mouth with clean water afterwards. If the teeth are good, it will preserve them and keep away toothache; if the teeth are gone, it will harden the gums so that they will masticate crusts and all.

CURIOUS HANGING BASKET.—Procure a large sized turnip, and scrape the inside, leaving a thick wall all around; fill the cavity with earth, and plant in it some clinging vine or morning glory. Suspend the turnip with cords, and in a little time the vines will twine around the strings, and the turnip sprouting from below will put forth leaves and stems that will turn upward and curl gracefully around the base.

ED. An Iowa farmer claims to have used for five years, with very good results, a harrow made by attaching four arms at each side of a double-hinged centre piece. These are placed a foot apart, and have teeth made of 1-inch iron, eight inches long, driven in, sloping backward at an angle of forty-five degrees. They are six inches apart in the first pair, five in the second, four in the third, and three in the last. This is not patented, and he says such a harrow can be made for from five to ten dollars. From this description any worker in wood ought to know how to make one.

ED. The raising of Cashmere goats for their wool has become an established pursuit in Nebraska. One gentleman has a flock of 200, and his success in raising them has induced many others to adopt the breeding of that valuable stock as a regular pursuit.

TO CURE SCRATCHES.—Take sulphur and soft soap, equal parts, mix well together, and rub the sores once a day. Three applications generally are sufficient; but cases may require more. It is a sure cure.

ED. Gloves must either match the dress or the trimmings. Long white kid, reaching nearly to the elbow, are considered very elegant. These were worn in Queen Anne's time by the court ladies.

ED. A recent fashion writer says: "Panniers, Grecian bends and doll-baby sashes are all left out in the cold. Their reign is over. Dresses are worn longer, and immense court trains appear in full dress."

ED. The veil most worn now-a-days consists of a yard of black net, usually dotted and edged with lace. The new steel spring around the front of the bonnet is the most usual fastening.

ED. Lace sashes are among the latest novelties.
